

HELP WANTED

Are YOU the face of the travel industry?

Wanted: A charismatic hospitality employee to be the new “face” of travel in America.

Do you have what it takes?

American jobs are under attack. We need your help to stop it. Send a short video that tells us about the important work you do for your family, your community and the entire American economy. Entrants will compete to be a national spokesperson for the travel industry and will participate in media interviews and meet with policymakers in Washington D.C.
